, Fyre Festival And Convoluted Farewell Emails Show The Pornberry Crew's Pétain Mentality If you're a millennial or beyond, there's a pretty good chance you know Preston Lacy. If you don't, you'll soon be acquainted. The man who makes sure the porn berry is loaded is a figure to behold. His presence is always felt in the industry- he is a giant among porn robo-tweets and daily social media updates on his Instagram account (@prestonlacy). We caught up with him in person to talk about his work, his recent run-ins with social media, and his responsibilities as a pornberry general. Turns out, he's got a lot more to him. A graduate from Florida State University with a passion for music, Preston Lacy left college to pursue a career in the adult entertainment industry. He landed an internship at Tabu Productions which landed him an editorial directing position. Shortly afterward, he was hired by the famous adult studio VoodooVixen. While at Vixen, he climbed the ranks, eventually becoming one of the first editors to double-shift. After eight years in the business, Preston was lured to Ladyboy Cash where he held a similar position. He immediately found his calling in bondage, which immediately impressed casting directors who had previously scorned him for not having any experience in the adult business. Soon after, Preston began his current position managing the porn berry at Girls of Mirrors. In the past few years, two different events went down that made people really take notice of Mr. Lacy. Last year, Twitter was alarmed by a "fate worse than death" video posted by the porn berry that showed a naked woman chained to a device that turned on and off. Twitter was baffled as to who was behind this, but everyone agrees that the porn berry could be a devastating weapon of cyberterrorism. However, no one was more surprised than Preston Lacy. After a few weeks of rumors, speculation and conspiracy, it was revealed that he was the man behind the porn berry. We'll get to that out of order later. This year, the hacktivist collective known as Cyber Cowboy hacked into the porn berry, and recorded video of the porn berry laughing at the hack, while the hacker smashed the screen and sent every DM on the
